Methodology

Survey
- 215 companies
- Mostly U.S.-based medium and large companies
- Conducted September–October 2020

History
- The survey has been conducted 13 times since 1995.
- Examines how companies are investing in their communities.
- Corporate citizenship professionals and executives provide insight into how their companies are managing and executing their community involvement programs.

Criteria and Specifics
- Data in figures and throughout the text refers to survey responses based on the entire company, unless otherwise noted by the † symbol. Figures that include the † symbol are based on data from all respondents (responses based on the entire company and those based only on regional or local operations). Ninety-three percent of the survey responses are based on the entire company.
- The following types of giving were supplemented with data available from public sources for non-surveyed companies: cash giving directly from the company, noncash contributions, and foundation giving to address the COVID-19 pandemic and/or in support of racial justice following the murder of George Floyd. Cash giving through the foundation was based on data from Candid’s Foundation Directory Online where indicated. Multi-year commitment data was mainly sourced from company websites.
- The company demographic data (e.g., industries and revenue) provided in the survey responses were cross-referenced with sources of information about corporate demographics, including databases and company websites.
